MONTES ERMOS

The Douro River borns in Spain in the Sierra de Urbión, over 2000 meters of altitude. ¶ At the border with Portugal, the wild valley gave rise to the International Douro Natural Park, settled by protected species such as the Griffon, the Egyptian vulture and the Bonelli's Eagle. ¶ This unique landscape are the "Montes ERMOS" (Rustic Hills) that catch our attention by how nature shows himself. ¶ In Freixo de Espada à Cinta, land of myths and legends, is where the river meets the wine and the olives oils: the Douro starts here ... ¶

Grapes	Touriga Nacional
Winemaker	Rui Madeira
Taste	Red opaque color. Sweet and elegant aroma, very intense, shows a great aromatic complexity, where the freshness of grape with floral notes and black fruit is in equilibrium with the rock rose and rosemary, very typical flora of the Douro Superior. The stage in new barrels, contributed to commend all the aromatic richness, showing up subtle notes of roasting, toast and vanilla. In the mouth, there is the elegance of the variety. It is very structured, with firm tannins, the end is long fruity and persistent.
Pairing tips	Try it with meat dishes of the traditional mediterranean cuisine.

Table Olives

It's in Freixo de Espada à Cinta the only area in Portugal where you can find Table Olives with an appellation.

Indeed, the olive variety of 'Negrinha de Freixo' is the only one with the protection of quality and origin.

Due to the economic importance of olive groves, it is still visible in our landscape.

Besides the wild fauna and flora of the International Douro Natural Park, the landscape is merged among olive groves, vineyards and almond.

He have 3 main types of Tables Olives:

- DOP Table Olives - 'Negrinha de Freixo'
- Green Type
- Mixed Type

Each type is available in the following packagings:

- 800 gr (plastic pail)
- 3 kg (plastic pail)
